We believe that by writing and sharing our experiences, in standard textbook, white paper and new media electronic format, our experts are able to address most areas of your financial or business needs, in an understandable and unbiased manner.

We recognize that some colleagues may appreciate reading current business management theory, healthcare technology or financial planning information privately, prior to engaging a Certified Medical Planner® professional. There is a virtual information overload out there, little of which addresses the pragmatic concerns of the medical provider. None imparts the wisdom to become a better investor or physician executive. All motivate the purchase of financial products.

Therefore, as part of the MBA Research Library®, we highly recommend the following textbooks.
